

Composite Cable - Connecting Cords

Composite Cable

Composite cable is one of main products in connecting cords series. The composite cables HEFS offers are manufactured with advanced equipment and technology through the complete testing. The predominant quality and complete after-sale services endure our success in building an incomparable reputation in the international market.

The HEFS composite cables includes a wide range varying from HEFS-3001 to HEFS-3005, and all of these have obtained the certificates such as UL, VDE, TUV, GS, etc for premium quality and great performance. Except for the types of composite cables mentioned above, we can manufacture other composite cable types as per your requirement.

We look forward to establishing business relationship with customers from all parts of the world. We are sure that the consummate service can satisfy our customers.

Speaker cables, power cables, network cables, etc can also be found in HEFS.

Haiyan HEFS Trading Co., Ltd.

<http://www.cablechinese.com>